

Sending is a vital contribution to the Great Commission. Going cannot happen without sending. Here are some ways to be a sender!

SEND our short-term missionaries:

- Pray for an individual goer. Pray for a team.
- Give financially. Talk to the missions manager about specific needs.
- Provide lunch or dinner (or a portion of it) for a team pre-trip meeting.
- Read goer stories on the missions blog: www.charteroak.church/sentmissionsblog.
- Purchase supplies. Ask the missions manager about specific needs. For example:
 - Pay for the medicines the Panama team will take to their medical clinics.
 - Pay for the Spanish Bibles that the Panama team will share.
 - Rent the van for the New York City team.
 - Purchase building materials or nonperishable food for the Big Creek team.
 - Donate snacks for a team.
 - Buy what's on the Jamaica team shopping list.
- Meet with a goer after their trip to hear about their experience.
- Drive goers to the airport or pick them up.

SEND our long-term workers:

- Pray.
- Read our worker updates: <https://mailchi.mp/1c6498a84c3b/missions-update>
- Sign up for a worker's newsletter. Read it and reply to it.
- Give financially.
- Ask the missions manager about joining a worker's prayer team or home team.
- Ask the missions manager about sending a letter or care package.
- Join an online conversation with a worker.
- Give your time and share a skill. What are you good at? A few ideas:
 - Help with taxes.
 - Take photographs when they are on home assignment.
 - Host an online meeting .
 - Give feedback on a newsletter.
 - Design a prayer card.
- Offer the use of a car or housing or a weekend getaway to a worker on home assignment.
